Report 1015

P R E F A C E

The Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries (CFOI), administered by the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) in conjunction with the 50 States, the District of Columbia, and New York City, compiles detailed information on all work-related fatal injuries occurring in the United States. In an effort to compile counts that are as complete as possible, the fatality census uses diverse sources to identify, verify, and profile fatal work injuries. Source documents such as death certificates, news accounts, workers' compensation reports, and Federal and State agency administrative records are cross-referenced to gather key information about each workplace fatality.

The annual CFOI report provides detailed tabulations of data from the fatality census, as well as analytical articles on various topics related to fatal workplace injuries. The report contains charts and text highlighting fatality data from the Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries, including charts derived from three analytical articles using CFOI data.

User-created tables and supplemental tables can be accessed on the Internet at <https://www.bls.gov/iif>. The online version of the Profiles System can be accessed at <http://data.bls.gov/GOT/servlet/InitialPage>.

This report was prepared in the Office of Compensation and Working Conditions under the administration of Associate Commissioner William Wiatrowski and Assistant Commissioner John Ruser and under the direction of Katharine Newman, Chief for the Division of Safety and Health Program Analysis and Control. Scott Richardson, CFOI Program Manager, supervised the preparation of the report by staff members Dino Drudi, Gregory Fayard, Matt Gunter, Jill Janocha, Joyce Northwood, and Stephen Pegula. Editorial production of this report was provided by Edith S. Baker, and graphic design by Bruce Boyd, both of the Office of Publications and Special Studies, Division of Publishing, William Parks II, Chief. Many other organizations contributed to the success of the census, including the participating State and local agencies that collected the data, the BLS regional offices that helped review and process the data, and the BLS Office of Field Operations, whose staff oversaw the census' implementation in the regions and States.
