Average Energy Prices, Washington-Baltimore – June 2015

Gasoline prices averaged $2.799 a gallon in the Washington-Baltimore area in June 2015, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. Regional Commissioner Sheila Watkins noted that area gasoline prices were down 24.1 percent compared to last June when they averaged $3.688 per gallon. Washington area households paid an average of 13.3 cents per kilowatt hour (kWh) of electricity in June 2015, down 3.9 percent from 12.8 cents per kWh in June 2014. The average price of utility (piped) gas at $1.012 per therm in June was down 13.8 percent from $1.174 per therm a year earlier. (Data in this release are not seasonally adjusted; accordingly, over-the-year-analysis is used throughout.)

At $2.799 a gallon, the price for gasoline in the Washington area was close to the national average of $2.889 a gallon in June 2015. Last June, gasoline prices in Washington were also similar to those for the nation. In fact, prices for a gallon of gasoline in Washington have differed from the U.S. average by less than 4 percent in June over the past five years. (See chart 1 and table 1.)

Technical Note

Average prices are estimated from Consumer Price Index (CPI) data for selected commodity series to support the research and analytic needs of CPI data users. Average prices for electricity, utility (piped) gas, and gasoline are published monthly for the U.S. city average, the 4 regions, the 3 population size classes, 10 region/size-class cross-classifications, and the 14 largest local index areas. For electricity, average prices per kilowatt-hour (kWh) are published. For utility (piped) gas, average prices per therm are published. For gasoline, the average price per gallon is published. Average prices for commonly available grades of gasoline are published as well as the average price across all grades.

All eligible prices are converted to a price per normalized quantity. These prices are then used to estimate a price for a defined fixed quantity. The average price per kilowatt-hour represents the total bill divided by the kilowatt-hour usage. The total bill is the sum of all items applicable to all consumers appearing on an electricity bill including, but not limited to, variable rates per kWh, fixed costs, taxes, surcharges, and credits. This calculation also applies to the average price per therm for utility (piped) gas.
